

PEDRO BROMFMAN

COMPOSER

Born and raised in Rio de Janeiro, film composer Pedro Bromfman has been writing, playing and producing 'music for images' for over fifteen years. A graduate of Berklee College of Music, Pedro has worked as a session musician, music producer and arranger, before his passion for film scores brought him to Los Angeles.

Since moving to California, Pedro has composed scores for MGM's RoboCop, starring Gary Oldman and Michael Keaton, three seasons of the hugely popular Netflix series Narcos, the EPIX film Deep Web, narrated by Keanu Reeves, Paradise, Inc. starring Harvey Keitel, Thumper, directed by Jordan Ross, Fox's Em Nome Da Lei, the 6-part series Story Of Us With Morgan Freeman for Nat Geo, Jessica Sanders' Sundance hit End Of The Line, the 8-part series Chain Of Command and Alex Winter's Panama Papers.

His early credits include scores for Tropa de Elite (Elite Squad), winner of the Golden Bear at the 2008 Berlin Film Festival, They Killed Sister Dorothy (HBO), directed by Academy Award winner Daniel Junge and narrated by Martin Sheen, March of the Living, directed by Jessica Sanders, Tropa de Elite 2 (Elite Squad: The Enemy Within), the most successful Latin-American film to date, the romantic comedy and Brazilian blockbuster Qualquer Gato Vira-Lata, G-Dog, directed by Academy Award winner Freida Mock and the video game Max Payne 3 (Rockstar Games).

Pedro has most recently scored the feature film The Blackout and the video game Need For Speed: Heat (Electronic Arts). He is currently finalizing the music for Far Cry 6 (Ubisoft).

Pedro has been awarded two Gold Medals for Excellence in Film Music at the Park City Film Music Festival, an ASCAP Award, nominated for two Cinema Brazil Grand Prizes (Brazilian Oscars), a Hollywood Music in Media Award, an ACIE Award and a Premio Contigo! De Cinema.
