

Adem Ilhan

COMPOSER

Adem Ilhan is an award-winning composer, producer and multi-instrumentalist who draws on his background in contemporary classical composition alongside his experience as a recording artist to bring a fresh creativity and a fearless exploratory approach to his music.

Adem's idiosyncratic music can be heard on multiple film and television scores including The Ballad of Wallis Island starring Carey Mulligan, A24's Dreaming Whilst Black, Thea Sharrock's The Beautiful Game for Netflix, both seasons of Armando Iannucci's Avenue5 for HBO, starring Hugh Laurie, Josh Gad and Rebecca Front, The Ones Below written and directed by David Farr (Hanna, The Night Manager), Michelle de Swarte's BBC series Spent and the ITV comedy Piglets. Further credits include Steve Coogan and Sarah Solemani's six-part Chivalry, Hard Cell for Netflix, Armando Iannucci's In the Loop and both series of the BBC series Cheaters. Adem was music producer on Danny Boyle/Richard Curtis' Yesterday, continuing his collaboration with the inimitable Daniel Pemberton (for whom he has worked with on many soundtracks). He also contributed a key track to the score of Shane Meadow's Dead Man's Shoes.

Having first started releasing records whilst at secondary school as a founding member of the influential post-rock band Fridge with Kieran Hebden (Four Tet), Adem went on to release highly acclaimed solo records and toured all over the world. He set up Homefires festival in London (Event of the Year – Time Out) which established him as a tastemaker in the burgeoning alt-folk/folktronica scene, and lead to him being invited by David Byrne to perform at Carnegie Hall.

Adem has produced many records, notably 'Weatherhouse' by Philip Selway (Radiohead), remixed artists from Underworld to Explosions in the Sky and collaborated with Sia, Hot Chip, Damo Suzuki (Can), Arthur Baker, Bernard Sumner & Johnny Marr, Pharoah Saunders, Vashti Bunyan and Badly Drawn Boy.

He has composed for major theatre and dance companies including The Royal Shakespeare Company and Rambert and has collaborated at an international level with world-class practitioners in these oeuvres. His music has been used in installations at top institutions including Tate Britain, Barbican and the Institute for Contemporary Arts. Adem's composition work was nationally recognised when he won the prestigious Paul Hamlyn Award for Composers.
