Lesley Barber

COMPOSER

Lesley Barber is an acclaimed composer whose work transcends genres and elevates narratives with her masterful scores. Known for her poignant music in Kenneth Lonergan's Oscar-nominated film Manchester by the Sea and the critically-acclaimed You Can Count on Me, Barber's contributions to film and TV music are nothing short of exceptional.

Barber's artistic excellence and innovative approach to music composition continue to set her apart, with scores that not only complement but profoundly enhance the stories told on screen, leaving an indelible mark on audiences worldwide.

She composed the music for Jerry Rothwell's award-winning documentary How To Change The World, Patricia Rozema's Mansfield Park, Mira Nair's Golden Globe-winning Hysterical Blindness, Mary Harron's Moth Diaries, the beloved children's classic Little Bear with Maurice Sendak, and Yo-Yo Ma: Six Gestures. Other recent projects additionally showcase her versatility and breadth as a composer, including Late Night directed by Nisha Ganatra, Mindy Kaling's Four Weddings and a Funeral Hulu series, American Woman produced by Killer Films, Stephanie Laing's Irreplaceable You, Haifaa al-Mansour's Nappily Ever After, the star-studded Maybe I Do, the documentary Diane Warren: Relentless, and Durga Chew-Bose's Bonjour Tristesse, to name a few.
