

Chris Benstead

COMPOSER

Chris Benstead is a British film composer, arranger and Academy-Award winning re-recording mixer. He has worked on several projects with director Guy Ritchie including composing the score for the upcoming feature The Covenant, spy thriller Operation Fortune: Ruse de guerre starring Jason Statham and Hugh Grant, the action thriller Wrath of Man and The Gentlemen, starring Matthew McConaughey and Michelle Dockery. Further recent work includes scoring the action thriller film Jericho Ridge and Rupture directed by Hamzah Jamjoom. He also arranged and composed additional music for Guy Ritchie's Aladdin alongside legendary songwriter and composer Alan Menken and produced and arranged the songs in the film, working with Will Smith to create re-imagined versions of the classic Disney songs.

Chris composed additional music for Beauty and The Beast working closely with Alan Menken and director Bill Condon. His arrangements helped contribute to the film's massive success - becoming the biggest grossing musical of all time.

Chris received OSCAR and BAFTA awards for his work as re-recording mixer on Alfonso Cuarón's masterpiece Gravity, starring Sandra Bullock and George Clooney. Chris' unique skillset allowed him to mix and sculpt the music in an extremely immersive way, pushing the limits of surround sound and exploiting the new 'Dolby Atmos' standard.

As an in-demand music editor Chris has worked on over 40 films including the latest James Bond film No Time to Die, Wonder Woman, Black Swan, Brave, Thor and Cinderella and has worked with some of the most high-profile directors in the industry including Paul Greengrass and Sir Kenneth Branagh.

Chris is a versatile multi-instrumentalist and achieved a First-Class honours in music and sound recording from the University of Surrey. He was also named as Alumni of the year for his ground-breaking achievement in music mixing on 'Gravity'.
